How to register with REGION as an author in OJS3

In this document we show you step-by-step how to register with Open Journal Systems (OJS), the open source software that we use for managing REGION, as an author. This step is needed if you want to submit a paper to REGION.

The Login Page

Assuming that you are currently not logged into OJS, clicking the Submit item in the menu or requesting any other function that requires login, gets you to the LOGIN PAGE (see Fig. 1). If you are already registered as a user, you can login here by entering Username and Password. In order to submit a paper to REGION you need to be registered as author. The steps you need to take as a registered user to register as author are described below (Section "Register as Author").

Since you are not a user yet, you need to follow one of the Register links (marked in green) on this page. Clicking this link gets you to the REGISTRATION PAGE (see Fig. 2 and Fig. 3).

The Registration Page

Open Journal Systems (OJS) uses site level registration. This means that your username and password identifies you for all the journals hosted by the respective installation of OJS. You don't have to register for each journal separately.

To register with OJS, fill in the form on the registration page. Required fields are marked by *. "Username" and "Email" (page 3) must be unique for the site. If you have already registered to the site with this "Username" or "Email", your registration will be rejected and you will be asked to log in with the already existing credentials. Please note that your password is stored only in encrypted form. Therefore, there is no way (for you or for the site administrator) to retrieve the clear-text version of your password. If you forget your password, you can only request OJS to reset it (generate a new password) by clicking the link "Forgot your Password?" on the Login Page.

At the bottom of the registration page (see Fig. 3) you find a checkbox for the reviewer role. Check this option if you are willing to act as a reviewer for REGION.

When you filled in the registration form properly and clicked "Register", OJS logs you in and offers you three options. You can

- 1. Make a new submission (submit a new paper for REGION)
- 2. Edit my profile (edit the profile that you just created)
- 3. Continue Browsing (read papers and issues on the REGION homepage)

The easiest way to submit a paper to REGION is to click on "Make a New Submission" and to follow the step-by-step instructions.

In the old version of OJS, new users were registered only as "Reader" by default. Users who registered under the old version of OJS or were registered as "Reviewers" may not be able to submit a paper. If such a user wants to submit a paper, she needs to register as an "Author" as described in the section below.

Register as Author

If you are registered with REGION, but not as "Author", you need to log in, and update your profile.

Depending on the roles you have, you may or may not get to your personal dashboard after you log in (see Fig. 5). In any case, on the top right-hand side of the page you will find your "username" ("fwirl" in Fig. 5). Move the cursor over this button and then click on "View Profile" to get to the EDIT PROFILE PAGE (see Fig. 6).

The Edit Profile Page

The Edit Profile Page has seven tabs and allows you to adjust your profile. We will not discuss all the options, only the steps necessary for registration as "author".

Activate the tab named "Roles" (see the red arrow in Fig. 6). The "Roles" tab is displayed in Fig. 7. Make sure that the option "Author" is checked (red arrow), click the "Save" button and you are ready to submit your new paper to REGION.

Start your Paper Submission

The submission process is described in detail in "How to Submit a Paper to REGION". On Fig. 7, starting a submission is easy: Click the link "Submissions" (green arrow) and then "New Submission" (Figure 8, green arrow).
